From the desk of President

Hello Friends!

The year has flown and we members are gathered once more to take stock of the year just past and to actively assemble our ideas for the period ahead.

I am delighted to report that our brand new initiative of the year, the Palna Shishu Kendras got airborne, (as it were) and quickly clasped unexpected height! The centres are immensely sought and are obviously reaching out to a real requirement. We hope we can continuously equip them better and better in the time to come. Presently, 7 centres are successfully operating to serve 375 children.

Members applied themselves to consolidating the existing programmes. As usual we have continually brainstormed to review the road taken by us. To see if a new path needs to be cut or the current road needed reinforcement . One important direction we have decided to adopt is a consolidation plan for our outreach centres, We have observed that several of our locations have large spare space. With some modification, the venues can easily be made to comfortably and happily accommodate more children. We visualise some capital outflow on small building alteration, toilets and greening at the locations so that the same locations can be better put to use, namely to serve more children of the surrounding communities efficiently.

As the statistics reveal, we are heartened to observe that most of our programmes have had steady incremental numbers. Only Palna continues to suffer a decline in the numbers of healthy children received. Changing societal trends like surrogacy, corruption and refined medical techniques are possible causes for the downslide at Palna. Simultaneously, however, the numbers of challenged children arriving at Palna is going up, placing the financials under pressure, on account of the higher medicals and the need for more vigilant and delicate care. Here there is a constraint, as our Bal Chetna receives negligible donor money. This is because, donors, today, are very carefully evaluating the 'Impact' of developmental efforts and the impact of our therapeutic interventions in the case of our challenged children, most often cannot be visibly validated.

To our great pride two children undergoing Physiotherapy at Janakpuri, Sumit & Chandan were admitted to college this year! Here we must record the steadfast parental support we received to enable this outcome. We hope we can continuously achieve this year after year.

The valedictory of the Vocational Training programme this year witnessed a remarkable fashion show by the girls graduating in tailoring! The special feat on display was the new poise and confidence of our young graduates! The strides on the ramp, the vibes and the countenance was truly 'empowerment on exhibition!' Remember these girls rarely stepped out of their homes before this, hemmed in between an impoverished existence and a socially oppressive community. Of course we, members could only sit back feeling happy and fulfilled!

Our Working Children's Project welcomed a new donor in its fold, Messrs. Capgemini. We record our grateful thanks for their involvement and support. The Palna Shishu Kendra also received generous assistance from Karin Lodin & Gold Stone Infratech Ltd. GiveIndia continues to funnel funds for us. Here, may I offer DCCW's heartfelt gratitude to every donor whose magnanimity has enabled us to achieve the outcomes we have aspired.

I am also happy to inform that Charities Aid Foundation (CAF America), a US based grant-making intermediary has determined that Delhi Council for Child Welfare is now eligible to receive grants from CAF America. Prospective US donors are hereby enabled to make tax-effective gifts to CAF America with Delhi Council for Child Welfare as the grant recipient. We can now look forward to easy interface with donors from the US.

We miss the presence of Ms. Meenakshi Bahadur and Ms. Radhika Ramnath who withdrew from the Council early this year for reasons of personal preoccupation. However both continue to volunteer their assistance, as required by DCCW and we readily borrow from their invaluable experience from time to time.

Last but not the least, I wish to recognise the spontaneity and persistence of every colleague at DCCW. You, each hold up the house and the pride is but equally owned. Thank you everyone!

Wishing the year ahead comes armed with new opportunities. And equally, we are blessed with the strength and wisdom to convert them into an elevated existence for those who need them.

With my best wishes,

Sudha Gupta, President

Adoption Programme / PALNA™ (Established in 1978)

PALNA™, (literally 'cradle'), our home for abandoned children, is the programme we are best known by! Located in the green, tranquil environs of Qudsia Bagh in Old Delhi, it immediately offers assurance, affection and identity to children received here. These abandoned toddlers (and older children) usually come traumatised by their deprivation. Some are witness to violence in the homes they are displaced from. In any case, the desperate pangs of parting from parents is torment enough. Similarly, the infants, although, not obviously aware, must definitely, be psychologically affected.

A cradle placed outside the main gate allows parents to give up a child in privacy without needing to identify themselves. This is how we receive most of our children. Children are also brought to PALNA through the police, hospitals and clinics.

*Preparing for

When it is established that the child is abandoned or has not been claimed by the family, all efforts are made to place him/her in adoption. To date we have placed over 2,850 children in loving families, selected after rigorous screening and an evaluation procedure. Post-adoption, follow-up is also carried out for two years after the adoption.

Infants very often arrive in a precarious state of health. We have low birth-weight babies, hypothermic babies, babies with trauma and congenital defects. Their fragile medical condition requires emergency attention which is ably offered by round-the-clock doctors, nurses, care-givers, an emergency care medical unit and access to hospitals in the vicinity. In fact PALNA receives strong support from these hospitals.

PALNA has a multi-speciality medical programme, non-formal educational sessions and recreational activities, addressing all aspects of the child's development, health and overall well-being. PALNA has a physiotherapist, a special educator, nursery teachers and a speech therapist to supervise the development of the children. In addition, a child guidance counsellor regularly monitors the progress and well-being of the children. On an average, PALNA looks after 70-80 children, ranging from new-borns to 8 year olds.

The efforts and services of PALNA have remarkably impacted the lives of numerous children. The children are healthier and many fewer children are seen to have delayed milestones after the timely intervention and stimulation given. PALNA places great emphasis on the holistic development of the children and introduces academics to them, once they turn 3 years old.

Above all, PALNA makes every effort to move away from an institutional environment to a homely one.

Over the years DCCW has seen a decline in the number of children being abandoned or lost. This can primarily be attributed to changed mindsets of parents; increased network of the police department which enables restoration and lastly due to an increase in the number of agencies across the city; where if parents decide to leave their child, they don't have to travel far. Adding to this is the enhanced antenatal care available to people in the city. This has helped in reducing congenital problems which get identified and managed early in pregnancy thereby reducing the numbers of children being abandoned.

“It was the first time I was back to India since the adoption. Of course, I couldn’t miss visiting Palna. What I saw was really important for me to understand my past, my origin, my story. What I saw were children like the one I was, but instead of sadness I found love; instead of extreme poverty I found efficiency; instead of abandoned children, I found hope for a better future. Thank you.”

Samira

A miracle named Baby Samira

Newborn Samira arrived in the cradle in a precarious state on 26 July, 2013. Severely low-weight and with multiple medical complications including Craniosynostosis, the doctors were in dilemma on how to save the child. The afflictions were both diverse and critical and it was a great challenge to balance the distinctive treatments in such a young baby. Anyway, they first set about to stabilise her.

Samira settled but soon enough, half-expectedly, we observed that Samira wasn't making her milestones. Rolling over, sitting standing and walking were simply very stubborn.

Surgery and intensive therapeutic interventions were applied and at last in the following few months, Samira exhibited some response. Undoubtedly we were greatly encouraged and we persevered on.

Now, at 22 months, Samira has caught up! Her fine motor ability almost matches up with her peers and it is a marvel to watch her stack rings on a peg, slowly turn pages and pick rice grains with a tip to tip grasp! The current on her little face when she conquers thus, is our greatest gratification and we feel truly connected in our contentment! We are proud to add that speech stimulation has now enabled Samira to speak in monosyllables.

We believe Samira's story is also our story. That of our determination which yet again dealt desperate odds. Even the Maker could not look away.

Orthopedic Programme and Centre (Established in 1987)

The DCCW Orthopedic Programme treats poor children afflicted by Polio and other serious disabilities with both, corrective medical and alternate therapies. We attempt to put these children on their feet, both literally and otherwise. Children from outside Delhi are also treated at periodic outreach camps organised for this purpose.

Two senior Orthopedic surgeons and a resident medical officer treat the children admitted, with corrective surgeries. Simultaneously they provide physiotherapy, occupational therapy and/ or in-house orthosis /prosthesis.

Setting up the special centre for the purpose was made possible with the generous support of DANIDA, Denmark, International Adoption, Italy and Misereor, Germany. Approximately 70,000 children have benefitted from the effort and have either gone to school after correction, or have learnt a skill. We are very proud to have even enabled entrepreneurs and doctors from amongst our children!

The year recorded 391 cases as compared to 402 surgeries last year and 441 the year before. With an extensive Polio campaign by the government underway, the number of cases coming to us have declined over the years.
